

Automotive Solutions.
Driving your business forward.

The average car is made from over ten thousand individual parts. The industry therefore needs partners who can provide professional support for their daily operations. Gondrand works for automotive industry suppliers and knows what they want. We coordinate, consolidate and deliver to the production line at precisely the right time. All modules arrive at the factory “just in sequence” (JIS). We work closely with our customers to develop new solutions that give them a true competitive edge.
